I miss you so much Daddy. It's been 10 years since I've seen your face or heard your voice. I miss you so much and I forgive you for everything. I hate that we were just starting to get close again when you got sick. I would give anything to have another conversation with you. I love you and miss you more than you know... - Your Brookie ❤️

Will miss you silly sense of humor! Remember the first time I met you thinking you were so cute. It took forever before my crush on you was gone and you were just my brother. I remember how all of our friends thought you were so cute and Sunny and I would say not really. You were a wonder husband and father. I am honored and blessed to not only call you my brother but my friend. You will forever be loved and missed.
