Andi Cooley posted:

I love how grandmother always greeted us with a smile and a hug in her apron in her sweet kitchen. She watched tirelessly to make sure everyone had full plates, all the while asking, "More bread?" Before she ever fixed a plate for herself. The epitome of what a mother, wife, grandmother and great-grandmother should be, she was giving, loving, selfless and humble. I'm a better person for having been a part of her life and legacy.
