He had a good life with Reba and the boat. I would see him head for church every week. We (the Beans') lived right across from the Brewingtons!.I had moved (Winola) when I was 19, but would ask about them. Momma had passed a couple of years before he did, but would "stalk" him online and saw he was alive just before he passed and just now saw the obituary. I'm sure he's happy seeing Reba again.

Found out about this long after Harold had passed. I got to write about Harold's fishing abilities, go to fish with him, and loved hearing his stories about still guitars. He was very talented and one nice man. RIP Harold. Thank you for the memories. -Doug Markham
