Mr. Shelton was one of the nicest and caring people I encountered. He came to repair the air conditioning in my apartment one night because while he was busy with his family. He said he didn't mind because he knew of me having kids and just having a new baby. He could've ignored the request, but he didn't. That act of kindness and caring is a great memory of him for me. I am praying for his family. He told me he has children too. God bless you all. He is really missed.
