I known Deb & Pappy for years. Went to many games & shared victories & loses. Worked with Deb also. She was always crazy, but I think Sandi & her shared that trait. I'm so sorry for your loss. I know Deb is in heaven, watching over her family. Prayers for comfort & peace, during this time of grief. Luv to u all. Sharon 😊

My condolences to everyone in Debbie's family and group of friends. Debbie was an Angel on earth. I had the pleasure of meeting in person, Debbie, Trix and Joyce a few years back on my way home from FL. My husband was terminal at the time and the 3 sisters and I, had been internet friends for years. When we were heading home from FL to MO, I asked if we might get together if I drove home that way. They were as excited as Charlie and I were, so that is what we did. We were going out to eat but Joyce opened her home to us to come there, to have dinner with everyone. I will never forget that meeting. It was like stopping in at our families home and being welcome with open arms. I did not know I could love people, who I had never met in person, as much as I loved the 3 of them. Then when we met in person, they became family. My heart breaks knowing Joyce and Debbie are gone. However, my heart has a happiness in it knowing Joyce was waiting with open arms, when her sister Debbie walked through those pearly gates of Heaven. She earned her wings and I am sure they are beautiful to go with her Heavenly Crown. Fly HIGH my sweet sister friend. Give Joycie a big ole hug from me. Give my Charlie and big ole hug and tell him how much I miss him. I hope some day I earn wings and can see all of you again. Much Love, Barbee Barbara Masterson
