“ Tyler was always smiling and making other people smile. He was a great guy, he always at my house playing video games with my kids Bryan and Cheyanne McGowen. He will be truly missed by everyone. I hope the angles in heaven know how special he is, right now he's dancing with angles. He will truly missed by everyone. He was like one of my kids, always running in and out my door. I pray that his family will be able to handle this I know how bad they are hurting right now. The picture I am fixing to post was a great night at my house playing games.

“ Tyler was always smiling. Always. He made so many days better just by his contagious energy. He would say " Hey Ms. Christy, with a smile that lit up the night! Always will remember that he said yes ma'am no ma'am, etc. When he was leaving he never left without a hug and an I love you! He made anyone smile just by being him. I never heard a harsh word come from him. He was definitely a true as real rarity. It was an honor to have him on earth for the 23 years God allowed us to know him
